

The Center Launches an Exercise (Rasd 4) to Raise Its Readiness with the Sectors Operating in the Hajj Season

The center announced the completion of its preparations to launch the "Rasd 4" exercise to enhance readiness and readiness for this year's Hajj season 1445 AH, with the participation of a number of concerned authorities working in the Hajj.

The Director of Crisis and Disasters at the Center, Mohammed Al-Bakri, explained that the aim of this exercise is to enhance readiness and readiness to face extreme weather phenomena, test reporting mechanisms, and ensure their clarity and timely arrival, pointing out that the exercise witnesses the participation of the relevant authorities to ensure smooth cooperation and coordination, and to test reporting and coordination mechanisms, evaluate the results, and draw lessons to improve emergency preparedness, in order to enhance public safety and protect property.

The center looks forward to achieving a number of outcomes through this exercise, including enhancing the ability to deal with emergency weather conditions efficiently, improving response and coordination between stakeholders, and developing plans and procedures to enhance readiness in the future.

It is noteworthy that the center works as the entity authorized to announce the weather situation, monitor and report weather phenomena, on the continuous development of its services and programs that achieve the maximum accuracy for the center, the beneficiaries and the community, through the best technologies, and to support the beneficiaries to deal optimally with weather phenomena, in crisis and emergency management.